HOUSE RELIEF BILL REPORTED BY COMMITTEE

Senate Finance Group Votes Unanimously to Send Aid Measure, With Minor Amendments, to Chamber After Democratic Attempt to Increase Maximum Pension to $60 Is Rejected—Watson Moves to Begin Consideration Monday.

WASHINGTON, June 28—(AP)—The new house veterans relief measure was unanimously reported to the senate today with minor amendments by the senate finance committee.

An attempt by democrats to increase the rates for disability pensions was voted down, 11 to 8.

Republicans on the committee, with the exception of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, voted against the increase in these rates, which would have allowed a $60 maximum instead of $40. Senator King, democrat, Utah, joined the republicans in opposition.

The committee then voted unanimously to report the measure.

Senator Watson, acting chairman of the committee, announced he would report the bill to the senate at once and would call it up on Monday.

The request of the American Legion for a provision allowing an extension of one year in which to file suit for claims on war risk insurance was accepted by the committee without contest.

Will Take Fight To Floor.

Senators Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, and Connally, democrat, Texas, sponsored an amendment to increase the disability pensions. They intend to carry their fight to the floor.

Walsh and Connally also sought to amend the bill to extend the benefits to those veterans who contracted venereal disease during the service and who are now suffering dis-

Farm Board to Assist Apple Industry of U. S. Meet British Embargo

WASHINGTON, June 28—(AP)—C. S. Wilson, member of the federal farm board, said today that the board would assist apple growers and shippers in meeting the British embargo on certain grades of apples.

The embargo against the importation into England and Wales of barreled apples not meeting "U. S. fancy" and "U. S. No. 1" grade requirements, Wilson said, will restrict the export movement of summer and fall apples.

"The department of agriculture and the federal farm board are keenly alive to the situation and will use their best efforts to assist growers and shippers in meeting it," he said. "The farm board is prepared to extend to growers every possible aid in organization of cooperative associations for the marketing of their fruit."

Wilson declined to disclose what steps were contemplated by the board to meet the emergency.

BOY ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY

Herman Rohrig, Caddie At Eastridge, Is Hit by Truck.

Herman Rohrig, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Rohrig, 1218 South Sixth street, caddie at the Eastridge Country club, escaped serious injury when he was struck by a light truck near the club house shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

Frank Watson, employe of the club, drove the truck around a bend as Herman and two other caddies dashed across the road to a playground, bent on playing ball. Watson managed to dodge two of the lads, but the front of the machine hit Herman. The boy was knocked away from the car, but reeled around and fell underneath it, according to Emil Beck, club professional. Beck said that Watson was going slowly, and managed to stop the truck as the rear wheel was about to pass over the boy's body.

Beck took Herman to the Lincoln General hospital, where he is being attended by Dr. Clarton F. Andrews. Dr Andrews said the boy sustained two fractures of the right leg, one above and one below the knee. His face, arms, hands and body sustained severe abrasions. His condition is good.

CHICAGO FLIERS WITHIN ONE DAY OF NEW RECORD

Must Stay In Air Until Sunday Morning To Equal Mark.

PILOTS ALTERNATE GREASING ENGINE

149th Refuelling Contact Made; Will Rogers Goes Aloft.

CHICAGO, June 28—(AP)—Within fifteen hours of equaling the world's non-stop refueling record, the "City of Chicago," piloted by John and Kenneth Hunter, brothers, continued the grind over the Sky Harbor airport today. At 1:40 p. m., (C. D. T.) they had been in the air 405 hours. The record, held by the St. Louis Robin," is 420:21:30.

CHICAGO, June 28—(AP)—Age-long minutes picked away at the frayed nerves of two resolute young fliers today.

Less than eighteen hours separated the Hunter boys of Sparta, Ill., from a Spartan triumph over the frailties of man and machine.

For seventeen days John and Kenneth Hunter have piloted their monoplane, the "City of Chicago," against time, pitting their family fortune against their ability to keep the ship in the air until dawn tomorrow, when a new world's endurance record will be theirs. Down on the ground their brothers and sister, Walter, Albert and Irene, listened intently to the steady drone as the fliers sailed their monotonous course above sky harbor.

Today, with victory part of a day and a night ahead, it had become a match between man and motor. And a toothache suffered by Kenneth might hasten the landing.

Red-eyed for want of sleep, 400-odd hours of beard on their chins, hands trembling from the vigil, the brothers swooped down toward the airport today to drop a note: "Tooth aches like hell."

Then back to altitude, around and around the course, keeping near the harbor and trading the "stick" oftener now. The four hour shifts in the pilot seat are too long—black coffee and the cool upper air can scarcely keep the eyelids up.

WEAVER NOT TO RUN FOR SENATE

Issues Statement Before Leaving For Salt Lake City.

Will Remain Candidate For Re-election As Governor.

Gov. Arthur J. Weaver issued a statement before leaving for the governors' conference at Salt Lake City Friday evening, in which he definitely affirmed his previous decision to become a candidate for re-election as governor.

The statement was occasioned by numerous inquiries during the last week as to his attitude toward petitions which are being circulated throughout the state urging him to become a candidate for the United States senate.

Reports reaching the capitol have it that upwards of 15,000 signatures have already been obtained. It is also known that considerable pressure has been brought to bear from certain quarters to induce Weaver to change his mind.

Petitions Not Authorized.

In his statement Governor Weaver said:

"I have received letters and telephone calls from citizens as to petitions being circulated in the state with the object of placing my name on the ballot for United States senator. I have invariably told these friends that these petitions were not authorized by me, that I did not learn of them until they were being circulated, and that I had nothing to add to the statement made several weeks ago in which I announced my filing as a candidate for re-election. I have felt certain that this was the course the people wished me to pursue, and I acted accordingly. Because of this situation I will not be a candidate for United States senator."

Governor and Mrs. Weaver and their two sons, Philip and Arthur, jr., left about 8 o'clock Friday evening by automobile for Salt Lake City. They will be gone about a week. The governors' conference will be in session Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Tuesday noon, Governor Weaver with four other state executives will speak over the National Broadcasting chain. The program may be heard here between 12 and 1 o'clock. He is also on the speaking program at the conference Tuesday evening between 7 and 8 o'clock, which will also be broadcast by the National Broadcasting company.

Mr. Sanderson, in response, added a word about the co-operation of the workers, declaring that "it

Dynamite Cap Exploded By Lincoln Boy

John Vsetecka Slightly Injured By Flying Metal.

While a neighborhood group of boys huddled around closely, John Vsetecka, 11, Saturday afternoon tried to pound open a little object about the size of a half dollar, but which soon announced its identity as a dynamite cap with a terrific explosion. John, the only one injured, had the left eyeball scratched by a splinter of flying metal. Several more pieces of the cap were embedded in his face, but his condition was not serious.

John and Thaddeus Lowe, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lowe, 1802 H street, found the dynamite cap in the street on Eighteenth between J and H streets some time during the morning. After lunch, all the boys in the neighborhood gathered in the back yard of the home of John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vsetecka, 665 South Eighteenth street. John found a heavy hammer and proceeded to pound his find. He hit once, and then again without effect. The third time was all too successful.

The father of the boy ran out when he heard the explosion. The boys had all run away, but John was lying stunned and bleeding upon the ground. Dr. George E. Lewis, city physician, was called, and administered first aid. He rushed the boy to the office of Dr. J. J. Hompes for treatment of the eye injury and injection of a tetanus serum. Dr. Hompes declared that the injury probably would not affect the lad's sight.

Among the witnesses of the experiment was Philip Zimmerer, young son of Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Zimmerer.

Both pleaded guilty, but Mrs. Holly declared that most of the sworn statement on which she was indicted was false, having been made under great nervous strain. FARM BOARD HEAD SAYS COLLECTIVE ACTION ESSENTIAL

Chairman Asserts Farmers Acting "Under Same Roof" Could Get Results More Quickly and to Better Effect—Admits Natural Differences of Opinion Sometimes Exist Between Different Groups—No Limit to Unity of Action.

WASHINGTON, June 28—(AP)—Striking a new note in agricultural co-operation, Chairman Legge of the farm board suggested bringing all national farm organizations "under the same roof," in an address broadcast today from Washington.

He admitted a natural difference of opinion sometimes existed between the different groups, but said collectively they could accomplish results much more quickly and to better effect.

The chairman's address stressed the view that as the end of the first year's operation of the farm board approached it became more and more apparent that organization is the fundamental step in the solution of the agricultural problem.

Would Help Solve Problem.

"With the farmers organized," he said, "the adjustment of production and effective marketing of agricultural products would be comparatively easy. Unity of action is needed through every stage from planning and planting to marketing. The difficulty comes in getting producers to co-operate, chiefly because there is still a great difference of opinion as to just how to organize farmers so that they may properly deal with their problems in handling particular crops in this and that community."

The chairman insisted there is really no reason why farmers should not go further in collective marketing than organizations of any privately operated industry.

"Tht privilege," he said, "is in the farmers' own hands. Laws

DR. LULU HUNT PETERS IS DEAD

Noted Woman Physician and Writer for Star Dies in London.

LONDON, June 28—(AP)—Mrs. Lulu Hunt Peters, eminent physician and dietician of New York and Los Angeles is dead in London of lobar penumonia.

Dr. Peters, who came to London recently with a delegation of about 100 American physicians to attend meetings of the Royal Sanitary institute, died last night in a nursing home.

She had been taken ill with neuralgia on board the steamship Adriatic while enroute to Europe and her condition after arriving in London rapidly grew serious.

It was announced that her secretary, Mrs. Ray Blum, was sailing today from New York on the Mauretania to make arrangements for the burial of Dr. Peters.

Conducted Health Column.

Dr Peters wrote a daily column entitled "Diet and Health" which has appeared in The Lincoln Star for several years.

CONVENTION OF DEMOCRATS HERE

Lincoln Chosen For First Time in Several Years.

For the first time in more than a dozen years, the democratic party will hold its state convention in Lincoln this year.

The announcement was made Saturday afternoon by State Chairman T. S. Allen, after arrangements had been completed for the use of the Liberty theater. The meeting will be held on September 4, the date fixed by law.

Agreement on the convention city was reached after several weeks of correspondence between members of the state committee. For a numbr of years the party has held its conventions outside of the capital city. Hastings, Grand Island, Fremont, Omaha and Columbus have been chosen in recent years. It was felt that Lincoln was due for a turn this year.

Lincoln will be boiling with politics on September 4. Friday the republican state executive committee decided to follow its usual custom and meet in the Lincoln auditorium on the same day.

To those who find some significance in the selection of the convention city, the choice of Lincoln by the democratic party indicates that a more vigorous effort to get a larger share of the city vote will be made during the coming campaign than has been made in the past.

A formal call, including the apportionment of delegates, will be issued shortly, Allen said.

As Rogers Sees It

CHICAGO, June 28 — Here is something Chicago ought to put on billboards and announce to the world: "No innocent man has been murdered here since the world's fair in '93." And also that rival gangs do not murder each other. They are killed by members of their own gang for "holding out" and "double crossing." A "square" gangster can die in this town of old age, and an innocent citizen, to be shot here, would have to commit suicide. I tell you this system has a lot of merit to it. Wouldn't it be great if bankers "bumped off" the crooked ones?

Yours, WILL.

MISS MEDUNA'S CLAIM TO BONDS HEARD BY COURT

Claim of Anne Meduna that $10,000 in state fair bonds held in the deposit box of Dr. William L. Dayton and found after his death are her property, was submitted to County Judge Reid shortly before noon Saturday. Attorneys on both sides of the matter will file briefs within the next two weeks.

Action had been brought by Miss Meduna to force Frank T., and Helen Dayton, executors of their father's estate, to turn the bonds over to her. It is her contention that the bonds are registered in her name and that this constitutes proof of her ownership.

The children contend that the bonds were never actually delivered to Miss Meduna and that they are therefore property of the estate. Testimony at the hearing Saturday showed that Miss Meduna had been an employe of Dr. Dayton for many years. Her attorney claimed that provision for her was removed from the will when the doctor registered the bonds in her name.

PURBAUGH SEES IMPROVEMENT IN 4-H CLUB WORK

Improvement both in cattle and in their care in 4-H club work in the country was reported Saturday morning by J. F. Purbaugh, county extension agent, after a two-day inspection of work of dairy calf club members in the county. During the two days he saw about half of the 140 calves and cows which 100 club members are fitting for show.

"The animals show improvement over previous years in better type and breeding," says Mr. Purbaugh, "and are growing out in splendid shape. They are being fitted earlier. Many of them are ready for show now. The members are showing real skill in herdmanship.

"Many of these cows are in production, and are producing upwards of 500 pounds of butterfat annually. One boy reported $100 profit above feed cost in the first six months." He reported generally favorable financial returns from the 4-H club calf work in the county.

by refueling will be written, if all goes well, against the background of tomorrow's sunrise.

Fighting their worst enemy—sleep—John and Kenneth Hunter, the brother-pilots of the "City of Chicago," had been aloft 395 hours at 3:40 a. m., (C.D.T.) today—only 25 hours, 21 minutes and 30 seconds away from the record of 420:21:30 set by Forest O'Brine and Dale Jackson last year in the "St. Louis Robin."

If all continues well aboard the Stinson-Detroiter cabin monoplane, the record will be equalled at 5:01:21 (C.D.T.) tomorrow morning—just as the pilots watch their friends, the morning stars—Mars, Uranus and Mercury—fade into the dawn. Another hour must be droned out, however, before an official record is made.

Walter Hunter, who with his brother Albert make up the contact crew, said last night the Wright Whirlwind motor "sounds good for another 700 hours." At that time, the 149th refueling contact had just been successfully made, with Will Rogers, the humorist, going aloft in the contact plane, "Big Ben," to cheer the fliers.

The endurance plane flies with a constant list to the left. The gasoline tank in the right wing sprang a leak and to avoid trouble, only the tank in the left wing is used.

The brothers alternate in crawling onto the catwalk—grease-gun in one hand and hanging onto a strut with the other—to lubricate the engine. This is the thrill for the crowds that have begun to swarm the field at Sky Harbor. The pilot dangles on the narrow board—his head inches from the whirling propeller, which spins around 1,300 revolutions per minute at cruising speed—78,000 revolutions an hour—30,000,000 in 395 hours—whirling on in its eighteenth day in the air.

And this same propeller whirled 261 hours in another flight last year when the plane was called "Chicago—We Will."

Coffee goes aloft in gallon buckets on each refueling contact; meals, cooked by the pilot's sister, Miss Irene Hunter, go up regularly three times a day. Yesterday for dinner the fliers had roast duck.

Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee advised the house it would be impossible for this amount to be increased by the conferees.

Wood indicated the conferees would be able to reach an agreement by Monday. Final congressional action is expected then.

Peterson called several land owners in the Belmont grading district to testify that they believed that property holders were being benefited to the extent of their considerable objection from some of the owners. The latter, through their attorney T. S. Allen, warned that the protest would be taken into the courts if denied satisfaction by the council.

SECOND TEXAS MOB REPULSED

Band of Men Fails In Attempt to Storm Beaumont Jail.

BEAUMONT, Tex., June 28—(AP)—A mob, which included several women, early today failed in an attempt to storm the Jefferson county jail and seize Rainey Williams, 39, negro, who has confessed making eight attacks on Port Arthur white women in the past thirty days.

Williams was brought to Beaumont from Port Arthur for safe keeping after an attempt to lynch him had been thwarted by peace officers and firemen.

Arriving from Port Arthur by motor at 1 a. m., today, the mob, a hundred strong, served notice it intended to storm the jail. Surging forward, leaders grappled with the sheriff who stood outside the building facing the mob.

Deputies stationed in windows warned the sheriff's attackers they were prepared to open fire and the men retreated. Fire equipment was summoned and four policemen joined the sheriff's force.

Tear gas bombs were hurled into the ranks of the mob to stem a second attempt to enter the jail. A heavy stream of water was poured on the attackers but firemen were quickly overpowered and the hose cut in bits.

The women in the crowd for the most part remained in automobiles and shouted encouragement to the men.

Munger Issues Order Cancelling Policy

Federal Judge T. C. Munger issued a decree Saturday morning cancelling the policy issued by the New York Life Insurance company to Christian P. Jensen of Aurora.

Early in 1928, Jensen made application for the insurance and took the customary medical examination. Two days after the examination, however, he was gored by a bull, and was treated by another doctor. The company offered to repay the premium paid as the first installment, and held that the insurance was void because of the provision in the policy that it was not in effect if the insured person should be treated by a physician at any time between the company doctor's examination and the date of the policy's delivery.

NEW VETS BILL HANDED SENATE

ability as a result. This motion lost on a tie vote.

The democrats were successful in an amendment striking from the house bill the stipulation that the benefits of the legislation would not extend to veterans who pay income tax.

Consolidation Favored.

The committee unanimously agreed to an amendment providing for the consolidation of all veterans agencies and activities. The new agency is to be known as the veterans administration and it will include the pension bureau, now a separate government agency.

The request of the American Legion for abolishment of the office of comptroller of the veterans bureau was defeated.

The committee also eliminated the house provision that World war veterans who enlisted after the signing of the armistice on November 11, 1918, would not be subject to benefits.

5,000 Now Benefitted.

About 5,000 veterans in this class who are now receiving government aid would have been eliminated.

Senator Watson asked unanimous senate consent for its consideration on Monday, but Senator Norris blocked this.

The Nebraskan said he wanted to study the measure first, although he might be willing on Monday to agree to immediate consideration. Watson replied that if objection were made on Monday he would move to take up the bill.

have been written in recent years to free farmers from the restrictions of anti-trust regulations. In fact, under existing law the organization of farmers is permitted to an extent that probably never could be accorded to private agencies. There is no limit to the quantity of farm products that may be handled by groups of farmers who grow the crops and hold the full right to sell them."

Better Bargaining Power.

The great advantage that comes to farmers who mass large units of products, he said, is the better bargaining power thus attained than when they come to market by the thousands, each selling his own crop and competing with other individuals. Even an untrained group of farmers, he said, can market collectively to better advantage than the private agency which has no control over the flow of the commodity, but takes the product as it comes.

"It has been clearly demonstrated in this country," he continued, "that producers of farm crops can so regulate the marketing of their products collectively that they never have a glut. If there is any surplus, they can keep it at home and save freight."

Talks On Temperance At Bethany Meeting

Convention of Churches of Christ Addressed By Rev. F. A. High and Mrs. Clara Clayton.

U., and an open forum discussion of the ministers' pension fund featured the Saturday morning program of the annual convention of Nebraska Churches of Christ at Bethany park.

Dr. High discussed the responsibilities which ministers should feel in imparting the facts of prohibition to their congregations. Mrs. Clayton urged the necessity of temperance education for children.

The open forum discussion of the pension fund was led by R. E. Deadman of Fairbury, president of the state conference.

Dr. Arthur Holmes of the University of Pennsylvania, who is convention speaker, continued his morning talks, discussing religious experiences and the psychology of religion.

Mrs. Ora Leigh Shepherd of Indianapolis, secretary of the United Christian Missionary society, discussed women's work in foreign missions at the Friday night meeting. Dr. Holmes also spoke.

No programs were scheduled Saturday afternoon, but Saturday night a young people's program under the direction of Louis Lomax of Lincoln will be given.

About 1,100 registrations have been received at the convention, which is about the average yearly mark.

Kingsford-Smith Leaving Wednesday For Frisco, Completing World Trip; Talks to His Fiancee in Australia

NEW YORK, June 28—(AP)—Squadron Leader Charles Kingsford-Smith and his trans-Atlantic flight crew plan to take off Wednesday for San Francisco on a non-stop flight which will complete circumnavigation of the globe for the famous monoplane Southern Cross and her commander.

Kingsford-Smith took off from Oakland, Cal., two years ago on a flight across the Pacific to Australia by way of Hawaii. Later he flew from Australia to England, and last Thursday completed an east-to-west flight across the Atlantic from Ireland to New York with a stop for fuel at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

Talks With Fiancee.

After an official welcome to the city from Mayor Walker at city hall and a conversation with his fiancee, Miss Mary Powell, in Melbourne, Australia, over the radio-telephone, he went to Schenectady, N. Y., last night to talk to his parents in Sydney, Australia, over a short wave radio at the General Electric plant.

In his telephone conversation with Miss Powell, he reminded her of their engagement to be married in September.

When a secretary announced that Miss Powell was on the wire from Australia, he jumped to the phone.

"Hello—yes, hello, darling.

"How are you? I'm speaking from New York. I'm thrilled myself.

Through With Long Flights.

"I'm here for only two or three days. Then I'm going to San Francisco. No, I'm not going to fly back across the Atlantic. Not a chance! I want to marry you sometime. I'm not going to take any more chances.

"I thought I was going to lose my life, I think.

"I say we had a wonderful reception in New York. Yes, we've had the usual parade through the city, you know, and everyone throwing papers and streamers at us.

"We're leaving Wednesday without stopping. I plan to dispose of the Southern Cross. I'm going back to England. So the September date still holds good. I'm going to sell it. I don't think I'll have any trouble."

The Old Catskills
If We Really Thought
Dynamite and Hailstones
Free Your Emotions

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

This is written in the Catskill mountains, where Rip Van Winkle had his long sleep and where, some day, many millions will find a glorious summer playground.

Here are 1,000 natural landing fields, on the ends of sloping mountains, 40 minutes' flight from the 10,000,000 people that live in and around New York City.

Groups of little mountains, 2,000 to 3,500 feet high, beautifully green, and waiting for millions that will come.

The 1,250,000 children and 36,000 teachers, just released from New York City's public schools, ought to be here, and real civilization will find a way to send them, instead of leaving them in hot New York.

There could be no better place for old men and women to spend their last years, looking east toward the troubled Atlantic, and west, across broad America, toward the Pacific and mysterious, uncertain Asia, they, themselves, at peace, in this happiest of nations.

If men were really thinkers, their minds would be fixed on the immensity of the universe, the smallness of this little green globe, the certainty of death, and the uncertainty of what lies beyond. But, we are little inhabitants of a small planet and little things interest us.

Lightning struck a boat, carrying dynamite, off Cockburn island, in the St. Lawrence, killing 30, blowing the big $100,000 boat to splinters. We like to read about that.

At St. Johns, Newfoundland, windows, roofs, were broken, animals killed by hailstones weighing 10 pounds each. We've heard of hailstones as big as hen's eggs, but not as big as hens. That interests 1,000,000 of us where Einstein interests one.

The learned Dr. W. J. Mayo, earth's greatest surgeon, able to remove anything you have, except your citizenship and your complexes, warns you that restraining your emotions is bad for your heart.

Every time your mind interferes to check your instinctive impulses, the heart suffers. That will encourage modern young people, increasing their expectation of long life.

When you suddenly jam on your four wheel brakes, your tires suffer, so with your heart, when you suddenly apply your will and control the emotions which are your driving force.

"Pre-cut meats," beef, mutton, pork carcasses, cut, ready for consumers' use in the packing house, not in local butcher shops, interest retailers of food.

Swift & Co. are experimenting with the new idea, introduced by Mr. Chester, president of the General Food Co, in connection with sudden freezing, in transparent packages, at extremely low temperatures.

Meats thus pre-cut and frozen are said to last indefintely, losing none of their quality. This means much to retail stores that have found it undesirable or impossible to deal in fresh meat and fish hitherto.

It also means a new era for the retail butcher. Expert cutters, or cutting machines in packing houses, will do the minute butchering that has been done by thousands of individual butchers. Farmers might combine to cut and freeze their cattle, eliminating the big packer and long haul on the hoof.

Many high spirited Americans have lost their taste for stock gambling. On Wednesday, call money used for speculating, fell to one and a half per cent, lowest price in 17 years.

When we tire of gambling, call money is cheap. Last summer call money went to 20 per cent.

The banker can sympathize with the farmer. Wheat and money both are drugs on the market.

Captain Saul, of the Southern Cross, can testify to man's progress in transportation. As navigator of the Southern Cross he flew the Atlantic in two days.

Some years ago he made his first Atlantic crossing in a square rigged sailing vessel, and was six months on the journey.

In spite of that many still doubt that ocean air travel will ever "become practical."

Children of today will ask about "the old days, when people crossed the ocean on the water," as they now ask about stage coach days.

And those now living will cross to Europe for about $10.

BOLIVIAN TROOPS TURN INSURGENT TO TAKE LA PAZ

Fighting Believed Over, With Rebel Forces In Command.

Resigned President Is In Refuge; Revolt Against Him.

AREQUIPA, Peru, June 28—(AP)—Revolting troops, staging a brilliant military action on the heights above the city of La Paz, were believed here today to have ended the Bolivian insurgent movement in virtual victory.

Information from La Paz, by way of Huaqui, Bolivian fort on the banks of Lake Titicaca, said that Dr. Hernando Siles, president-resigned against whom the revolt was directed, has taken refuge in the quarters of the papal nuncio.

Fighting Believed Over.

While there has been no direct communication with La Paz since 12:30 p. m., yesterday it was believed here that the military directorate appointed by the revolting chiefs at Oruro would take charge of the government, and that actual fighting probably is ended.

Bautista Saavedra, former Bolivian president, refused to comment on reports current here that he had been called back to La Paz in connection with the political situation In Antofagasta, Chile, it was said Col. Julio Sanjines, "a friend of Chile," was the choice of the military leaders for president

Military Forces Revolt.

The Third infantry regiment, the aviation military school cadets, a heavy artillery regiment, and the "Abllivian" regiment at Viacha, important garrison point outside La Paz, revolted yesterday and proceeded to the "Alto de La Paz," or heights above the capital city, which is situated in a valley 10,000 feet above sea level.

From this position at 10:00 a. m. an ultimatum was sent the government forces still holding out in the city, giving them two hours to capitulate, and threatening bombardment of the city if demands were not complied with in that time At 12:30 p. m. telegraph service with La Pax was interrupted.

Many hours later there came the sparse information by way of Fort Huaqui, where a neutral cavalry regiment was stationed, indicating that the movement had succeeded. It was said also that the gendarmerie had joined the revolt, and that Santa Cruz, important city in eastern Bolivia, had fallen.

There were no figures available as to the number of dead during the past few days but many are believed to have perished.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— BY JOHN HIX.

RESIGNATION OF HUSTON IS SEEN

Republican Chairman Calls Chieftains To Conference.

Walter Head, Formerly Of Omaha, Mentioned As Successor.

WASHINGTON, June 28—(AP)—Talk of whether Claudius Huston may soon resign as chairman of the republican national committee was renewed today as party leaders prepared to meet here on July 7.

The conference was called by Huston who said there were some "matters of importance concerning the forthcoming campaign" on which he wanted the "advice and counsel" of the republican chieftains.

Walter Head Mentioned.

Meanwhile, speculation turned to Hustons successor, in the event of his resignation, with the name of Senator Fess of Ohio frequently mentioned. Other names entering the discussion were those of Postmaster General Brown, Walter Head, a Chicago banker, and Walter H. Newton, one of President Hoover's secretaries.

The president has recently been scanning a list of men available for the party chairmanship and the belief has been general that Huston's resignation would be presented soon.

However, if he has such an intention, he has given no indication of it. He has denied he would quit and a few weeks ago he sent a letter to all members of the national committee defending himself against the charges which have been raised against him.

Charges From Shoals Probe.

These arose from the senate lobby committee's investigation of organizations interested in Muscle Shoals legislation. Testimony was received that Huston collected $36,000 from the Union Carbide Co. for the Tennessee River Improvement association, of which he was president at the time, and deposited the money in his marginal stock brokerage account.

In particular, these disclosures aroused the displeasure of the young republican faction of the senate, a group closely associated with President Hoover.

Grand Island Host To Plane Tourists

Greeted By Thousands and Treated To Chicken Dinner and Dance at Third City.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., June 28—(AP)—Four thousand persons were in the welcome party that greeted the all Nebraska air tourists as the planes arrived here Friday afternoon on the next to the last lap of the journey. The first contingent of ships landed at 3:45 and from then on until late in the afternoon others were arriving every few minutes.

Half of the thirty-six ships had made a short stop at Holdrege after being at Kearney at noon, and the other half came here direct from Kearney, fearing they might run into rain and a hailstorm near Holdrege. Storms had earlier hampered the ceremony planned at Kearney.

Mayor C. A. Abbott and Geore Bartenback headed the official greeting committee. A chicken dinner, followed by a dancing party was the program for the night. Hundreds of cars from the surrounding area swarmed the city during the afternoon and filled all available parking space near the airport.

DIAMOND RING STOLEN.

A small diamond ring valued at $15 was stolen by a thief who prowled through the home of B. E. Craig, 2418 B street, during the night Friday. Other miscellaneous jewelry of little value was also stolen, while the occupants of the home slept.

Duke Divorces Former Actress Who Recently Tried to Kill Herself

EDINBURGH, Scotland, June 28—(AP)—The Duke of Leinster today was granted a divorce from the duchess, the former music hall actress, May Etheridge. The duchess recently was found guilty of attempting to commit suicide in a boarding house in Brixton.

Stanley Williams, with whom the duchess said she lived at Brixton, was named as co-respondent. The duchess was found with her head near a gas oven, overcome by the fumes. In defense, she said she did it to "frghten" Williams, with whom she had quarreled.

The Duke and Duchess of Leinster wre married in 1913. For a time they lived in Canada. They separated in 1915.

Carolina Troops Are Summoned to Protect Suspects

CONCORD, N. C., June 28—(AP)—A company of the North Carolina national guard, called out by Governor O. Max Gardner to prevent possible violence to seven negroes held in jail here in connection with a criminal attack on a 15-year-old white girl, found a mob dispersed as it took up its post today.

Governor Gardner ordered Company E of the 120th infantry to guard the Cabarrus county courthouse. He had been advised at Raleigh that a crowd of several hundred persons had surrounded the jail since early last night.

Sheriff H. W. Caldwell called the governor for aid after he had already ordered out troops.

The attack was made on Ruth Criswell at her home in the Roberta mill community, eight miles from here, Friday. The girl was badly injured and required surgical attention

Eleven negroes were arrested by posses that scoured the county with bloodhounds yesterday and last night. Three were released and one was taken to jail at Charlotte. Deputies said today they did not believe they had "the right negro."

G. O. P. MEETING AT AUDITORIUM

Committee Chooses Place For State Convention Here Sept. 4.

The Lincoln auditorium was selected Friday afternoon by the republican state executive committee for the holding of the party convention next September 4. The committee met at the Lindell hotel during the afternoon to select the convention place and fix the county apportionment of delegates.

Because of the larger vote cast for Hoover a year and a half ago, the convention attendance will be larger than heretofore Two years ago delgates were apportioned one for every 200 votes. This year, the committee fixed the apportionment at one delegate for every 275 votes cast. The total number of delegates entitled to be sent to the convention this year will be 1,256 as compared with 1,095 in 1928.

State Chairman Edgar Ferneau of Auburn and State Secretary E. R. Danielson of Lincoln were authorized to select a tentative platform committee and a temporary convention chairman. This will probably not be done until after the primary elections have been held.

Members of the executive committee present at the Friday meeting were: Allen Boggs, Lincoln; Henry Pickett, Sterling; Mrs. P. C. Hyson, Omaha; J. T. Fletcher, of Orchard; Rodney Dunlap, Fremont; Miss Fanny DeBow, Coleridge; C. J. Watson Fairmont; Mrs. A. J. Jenison, Fairfield and Harry Scott, Lincoln.

Western Canadian Provinces Suffer Wheat Crop Loss

WINNIPEG, June 28—(AP)—The Manitoba Free Press said today that crops of western Canadian provinces had suffered severe damage in the last twenty days and that permanent losses in wheat acreage would be extensive.

Wind, lack of ample general rainfall, and a plague of cutworms and wire worms have been costly to farmers. Damage is common to all provinces, with Manitoba suffering the least, a review of the situation indicated. In addition to losses caused by drouth and insects, slight damage has been caused by hail and frost.

CRIME INQUIRY WILL CONTINUE HOOVER SAYS

Private Funds Will Be Available for Enforcement Commission.

Announcement Made After Senate Votes to Restrict Activities.

WASHINGTON June 28—(AP)—With or without the assistance of governmental funds, the Hoover law enforcement commission intends to carry out its full inquiry into the enforcement of all federal statutes.

After the senate had voted to restrict the activities of the group to a study of the prohibition laws, President Hoover asked the commission to proceed with its general program and obtained its consent.

This the president announced late yesterday, saying he would "be able to secure from private sources the $100,000 necessary to carry this work forward to its completion.

The action of the senate came on an amendment to the second deficiency bill to appropriate $250,000 for the upkeep of the commission. This sum, which had been requested by the president, was reduced to $50,000 with the added proviso that it be used only for the prohibition inquiry.

Informed of the senate's vote, Mr Hoover called several members of the commission into conference. They were Chairman Wickersham, Dean Roscoe Pound, Henry W. Anderson, Monte L. Lemann and Miss Ada Comstock.

Full Program Essential.

Then in a statement issued in reply to questions put at his semi-weekly conference with the press, Mr. Hoover said it was essential that the commission's full program be carried through to completion and that this would be done.

"As a matter of fact," the president said, "the enforcement of any one criminal law necessarily involves the machinery by which all criminal laws are enforced, and the country is concerned over the cause of increasing crime in general.

"Nothing indicates the situation better than the fact that in the last two years there was an increase of persons in federal prisons for serious offenses from 8,400 to over 13,000, whereas in the previous two years the increase was from 7,100 to 8,400—in other words, an increase of 1,300 in the first period and an increase of 5,600 in the last period.

"Seventy percent of these are prisoners for other crimes than those arising out of prohibition. Our state prisons show about the same story. There can be no doubt that the more vigorous enforcement of the laws has something to do with the federal situation. What the causes and remedies are in respect to these 70 percent is of vital importance.

The senate's action in appropriating $50,000 for the commission automatically fixed that amount as the maximum that can be given it under the definiency bill. No appropriation was made by the house and the bill now goes to conference.

Grain Corporation To Retain Wheat Holdings

McKelvie Tells Farmers At Alliance That Grain Not To Be Sold At Less Than Cost.

ALLIANCE, Neb., June 28—(AP)—Samuel R. McKelvie, former governor of Nebraska and wheat representative of the federal farm board, declared here Friday that the farm board, through its grain stabilization corporation had at one time and another controlled over 75,000,000 bushels of wheat. If this volume had been left free to play upon the market it is easy to realize what the effect would have been upon the prices, McKelvie told a gathering of grain growers.

But what is more important, much of this wheat is still owned by the corporation and will not be sold in competition with the new crop at less than it has cost the government. As a matter of fact, this is the same as though the state of Nebraska had no wheat at all to sell this season at less than about the loan basis, $1.15 at Omaha.

McKelvie presided over a meeting of grain growers in conference here and visited farmers near Dalton Friday afternoon.

The robbery was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Strange, when they returned home at 6:30 o'clock. The prowler had ransacked a number of drawers, but nothing else was missing. The banks were on a shelf in the kitchen.

They were married in the presence of 150 guests at the Gibson hacienda near Saugus last night.

Attendants of the bride were Carmen Pantages, Marion Nixon, Marie Prevost and Mrs. Mae Sunday, while the groom was attended by William Collier, jr.

Gibson, 36, was twice before married. It was the 21-year-old bride's first marriage.

Two Slightly Hurt When Thrown From Truck Near Woodlawn

Willard Forsythe, 42, 1145 E street, and Hugh Anderson, 18, 920 South Thirteenth street, escaped serious injury, when they were thrown from a truck to the road near Woodlawn shortly before 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. The men are employed by a Council Bluffs firm erecting the new bridge at Woodlawn, and were riding in the rear of a ruck with several other men on the way to Lincoln. The truck swerved in avoiding a car, throwing the two into the road.

The men were brought to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Splain and Schnell's ambulance, and attended by Dr. George E. Lewis, city physician, who pronounced their injuries only severe cuts and bruises about their bodies. At first thought seriously injured, the men improved rapidly under treatment.

NEWMAN, Ga., June 28—(AP)—Resolutions asking the immediate resignation of Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, have been adopted at the quarterly conference of the First Methodist church here.

There was only one dissenting vote on the resolutions, which were offered by R. O. Jones, layman. Objection to the "whitewashing" on charges against the bishop at the general conference in Dallas was included in the resolutions.

"Brought Back My Strength"

"My little daughter was born on a homestead in northern Alberta. I had four other children and I worked so hard that I suffered a nervous breakdown. The doctor's tonic did not seem to help me and when a friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to take that instead. I kept on until I felt well again. It brought back my strength. Today I can do anything, thanks to the Vegetable Compound." —Mrs. William Parent, 1415 W. 62nd Street, Seattle, Washington.

WHAT OF CANADA?

Scarcely a year passes without its seasonal reports of extensive damage to the wheat fields of the Canadian provinces of the Northwest. The grain trade anticipates them and usually pays little attention to them until the returns from the harvest drift in. That was the situation in 1929, when early in May it was said that the Canadian prospects were the poorest in years and there was no chance of duplicating the record production of 522,000,000 bushels in 1928. Soon, with the advance of the season, it became apparent there was substantial foundation to the news dispatches which had been sent out. The drouth had taken its toll, and when threshing was completed, it was found that Canada had produced only half the crop which had been grown in 1928.

And, as a result of this sharp reduction in Canadian production, world wheat prices, including those in the United States, soared to new levels. The advance in values was due to the fact Canada is an important figure in world wheat production. Ordinarily it produces more than twice as much as France. With the exception of the United States and Russia, prior to sovietism, Canada is the largest individual wheat producing nation in the world. For three years without interruption it continued to contribute an increasing flood of golden grain to the world's supply of bread, through the simple expediency of drawing upon its unlimited new lands and bringing them under cultivation. The first real setback which the Canadian growers encountered was in 1929, but the full effects of it were not felt because the pool which handles most of the crop there had held back immense quantities of the 1928 crop from market.

But new interest and new significance must attach to the reports now coming out of Canada with reference to the 1930 prospects for wheat. From Winnipeg, the Manitoba Free Press reports that crops of the western Canadian provinces had suffered severe damage in the last twenty days and that permanent losses in "wheat acreage would be extensive. Wind, lack of ample general rainfall, and a plague of cutworms and wire worms have been costly to farmers. Damage is common to all provinces, with Manitoba suffering the least, a review of the situation shows. In addition to losses caused by insects, slight damage has been caused by hail and frost."

For the next six weeks the conditions in Canada become of paramount importance. The early part of the European season for wheat has been far from pleasing, according to the dispatches. Likewise in other countries, the climatic factors were unfavorable. Should it develop that Canada experiences a second year of diminished wheat production, the price situation might be materially affected.

The Nebraska farmer has been advised by Chairman Legge, of the federal farm board to hold his wheat. The advice has been ignored generally because the farm board happens to occupy an unfavorable spot at this time. But more than any word from Mr. Legge, or any other governmental agent, the farmer can very well afford to give close attention to the conditions which still control wheat prices—that is, the law of supply and demand. If Canada's crops have suffered widespread damage, if the crop falls far short of expectations and the normal yield of the last five years, if, in other words, what happened a year ago is repeated north of the line, there is every reason to anticipate that wheat prices will be materially improved. The most intelligent form of farm relief calls for a careful study and consideration of the factors which actually govern despite all artificial attempts to nullify them.

THE FEDERAL COURTS.

President Hoover's refusal to accept the senate's limitation of the work of his law enforcement commission to prohibition enforcement alone, even if he has to call extensively on private agencies for continuation of its wider program, is a necessary step in the fight to secure adequate reconstruction of the federal court system.

The federal court system was organized at a time when the problems brought before it were far less numerous and in the main of a different nature from those which confront it today. It was not made to function as a police court. It is not so organized as to permit the ready disposition of many of the minor civil actions brought before it. The increasing centralization of the country's activities has thrown increasing burdens on the courts. There has been no parallel adjustment of the courts adequately to equip them to handle their new duties and responsibilities.

Important or unimportant as a reformation of prohibition law enforcement may be, it is but a minor part of the whole law enforcement problem which this country is still approaching with inadequate efforts at solution. To hope that the Hoover commission can produce the millenium after a few months or even a few years of study is too much to ask. The caliber of minds drawn to the commission does warant giving it opportunity to attempt to outline a constructive program. Hoover's insistence that the really important mission of his committee be carried on will find ready support from all who are interested in the progressive development of federal legal machinery to meet the increasing demands upon it.

UNDERSTANDING THE MIND.

There is no more remarkable thing in human experience than the human mind. With all its achievements, all its vagaries, all its happiness, all its sadness, all its innumerable qualities, it remains a mystery.

The ideas that mind produce have made a world so different today from that of preceding generations as would be almost unbelievable to the ancients. While some ideas have made a new world, other ideas have tried to understand the world.

The influence of ideas on material things is commonly recognized. A thousand and one mechanical contrivances are mute but useful evidences of the influence of ideas on man's material life. The influence of ideas is not so commonly recognized in the attempts of man to understand the world in which he lives.

Yet all answers to the controversy between religion and science, in the modern era, can be traced back to the basic ideas of two Germans philosophers. Their names are unknown to most of those who rely on their insight in attempting to find a place for both science and religion.

The conception that religion and science are entirely separate fields, each having its position, neither bearing on the other, goes back to one of them. The attempts to bring science and religion into an organic relationship, in which it will be recognized that to ignore either is to see life incompletely, to recognize that the world of matter and mind is a unity, which must be taken in the unity of all its aspects, traces back to the other.

The world at large has little knowledge and little concern as to the influence of the two Germans on modern thought. Yet it is one of the great dramas of human achievement, to see how persistently dominant views of outstanding thinkers have influenced later ages.

The idea of the inventor finds expression in a new tool, a new machine, an improvement in the goods of life. The idea of the thinkers who tries to understand it all, may furnish the groundwork for gradual changes in human insight into the problems of life. The world's mystery remains unexplained. The whole background of life, however, is influenced by the attempts to explain it. Therein lies he great significance of thought and the real influence of ideas. Far more intimately than most people realize, the thoughts that flow from such ideas influence the daily course of life. On a successful understanding of those ideas and a wholesome application of them to life, on the gaining of new insights and their realization in effective contributions for human activity rest the ultmate hope of a world. It is the hope, not of unblemished happiness, but of that happiness which rises above sorrow, able to see the vision of the fullness of life.

THE TEMPERAMENTAL PIG.

A pig is not supposed to register high in a beauty contest and he is not credited with a great deal of intelligence. But it has been demonstrated by tests that he knows enough to come in out of the sun.

Carefully conducted experiments have revealed that the pig supplied with a plentiful amount of cool water and shade during the hot summer days retains and adds to his weight while the unfortunate animal left to the tender mercy of Old Sol reveals a surprisingly human tendency to lose poundage.

The College of Agriculture has one word of advice for the man who would profit in the raising of swine. It is in the heat of summer when the money is lost.

Everyday Questions

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

(Copyright 1930, New York Tribune.)

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by the Rev Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives

QUESTION.

North Carolina.

I am eighteen years old and afflicted with curvature of the spine. I want to find a way to make a living. I would like to become a teacher. Could you advise me how I could go to a college to finish my education, as my parents are poor? We live on a farm and there is quite a large family.

ANSWER.

I congratulate you on your courage and trust you will have health for your proposed task. Obtain full information about the teaching profession in your own state. Write to its department of education, asking for all printed matter containing regulations on the necessary educational qualifications of applicants for a teacher's license and the requirements for examinations. When you have received this literature you will then know what subjects to study, how to begin your training and when you should present yourself for examination by the board of regents of your state.

Your letter gives me no idea of your present educational attainments. If it is necessary for you to engage in further study at home before teaching junior classes, communicate with the extension course department of Columbia university, New York City. By doing so the probabilities are you would not have to leave the farm and the expense should be within your means.

QUESTION.

New York City.

Your golden gift of human sympathy and understanding is responsible for this long letter. I have to give up my position and return home to look after my aged parents. I rebel. I do not want to give up my city happiness for loneliness and poverty, and yet I have to go. My parents will never know what it means to me to return to them, yet I fear sometimes I shall lose all my hopes and all my dreams. Can you suggest some pursuits which will help me in the isolated place I shall live in?

ANSWER.

The call to such a service is too sacred to be set aside, and the strength and consolation you will need are inherent in its summons. Doubtless the struggle between inclination and duty is severe. It may not be attractive to you to relinquish a salaried position in this gorgeous, throbbing city and retire to the loneliness of a secluded rural spot where the prospects you have cherished seem likely to be blotted out.

But wherever you go the gifts which enabled you to make your own way in New York will still be yours and the ever-growing nearness between town and country should furnish you with opportunities for the exercise of those gifts. Join the nearest library, subscribe to the leading magazines and papers, install a good radio and make its universal ministries available for you and your parents.

Besides, those aged parents watch for your coming with trembling expectancy. I know you will not desert them in their necessity. You refer in your letter to your search for "something permanent and indestructible." Rest assured it can be found in the love they have for you and that which you have for them. This is the most precious possession God vouchsafes to mortals. Treasure it till your parents' eyes close in death and you will be a nobler, sweeter and more competent woman for the experience you fear, having that witness of a good conscience which is life's priceless good.

QUESTION.

Dallas, Texas.

Is Socialism a religion?

ANSWER.

In the strictest sense socialism is not a religion. In fact, it teaches that religion is a personal matter. A man may be an atheist, a Buddhist, a Mohammedan, a Theosophist or a Christian, and still be a socialist. Or he may be supremely indifferent to these and all other forms of faith and still be a socialist.

Some advocates of this economic creed arrive at it by one route; some by another. Not a few declare they found in Christ's Christianity the inspiration which first drew them to the socialistic movement. It is significant that those leaders who associate it with spiritual and religious ideals have usually followed this course. Among these are Ramsay Macdonald, Phillip Snowdon and Arthur Henderson, all of whom began their public careers as pronounced Christians.

Should you ask, however, if there is a religion of socialism, the answer is that many of its adherents conceive it in exalted terms constituting it their working faith. Yet brief reflection should convince you that Judaism and Christianity are infinitely bigger than socialism, liberalism, conservatism, democracy, republicanism or any other political and economic party or theory. Man must have his political allegiances, but he cannot live by them alone. His soul demands bread which earth does not produce. The lasting solution of the problems confronting society is hopeless apart from the spiritual freedom of a great religious dynamic.

Mr. H. M. Hyndman, the eminent British scoialist, confessed just before he died that his old notion of socialism as an ethical faith for collective humanity was utterly inadequate. "I used to think," he said, "that social democracy would take the place of religion, but I now see that human beings want something more."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIE

Jerry Gets His Pride Back

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

'Tis well for him whose pride is lost
To get it back at any cost.
—Jerry Muskrat.

Can you think of anything more humiliating than for a father to be asked how many children he has and not be able to tell? It was that way with Jerry Muskrat. One of the first questions that Peter Rabbit asked him when he learned that Mrs. Muskrat had a family was how many babies were in that family. Jerry Muskrat pretended not to hear.

"I say," repeated Peter, "how many babes have you, Jerry Muskrat?"

Jerry could no longer pretend not to hear. "Plenty," said he, remembering what Mrs. Muskrat had said.

"How many is plenty?" demanded Peter.

"Enough," replied Jerry.

Peter looked very hard at Jerry. "And how many are enough?" he asked severely.

"As many as I wanted," said Jerry.

Peter looked at Jerry for a long minute and began to suspect the truth. "Jerry Muskrat," said he, "you don't know how many children you've got No, sir, you don't know how many babies you've got. The idea. The very idea!"

Jerry squirmed uncomfortably. Finally he admitted it was so. "You see," he explained, "there isn't room in that home of mine for two big people like Mrs. Muskrat and myself and those babies all at the same time. If course, they have to have their mother and so I keep out of there. I know Mrs. Muskrat would prefer that I should."

"Do you mean to say that you haven't been in there since those babies were born?" Peter demanded.

"Oh, I've been in there!" replied Jerry hasily. "Of course, I've been in there. But it was dark in there and I could't stay but just a minute, and those babies squirmed so that I couldn't have counted them if I had had plenty of time."

"No," said Jerry. "All she has said is that there are plenty. Now you know as much about them as I do. Plenty doesn't mean much. It may mean one thing tomorrow, depending on just how you are feeling when you say it. If Mrs. Muskrat happened to feel out of sorts, two or three would be plenty. If she happened to be feeling fine, plenty might mean half a dozen."

"How many is plenty?" demanded Peter.

It was perhaps two weeks later that Peter and Jerry found out just what "plenty" did mean. Peter was sitting on the bank of the Smiling Pool just after jolly, round, red Mr. Sun had gone to bed behind the Purple Hills. Jerry Muskrat was idly floating in the water just below him. Suddenly Mrs. Muskrat appeared. She had come out of the under-water doorway of her home and up to the surface. Then a funny little head popped up just behind her. Peter's eyes popped out and his ears stood up straight. "One," said Peter. Another little head popped up. "Two," said Jerry Muskrat.

A third little head appeared, and another. "Three! Four!" cried Peter.

Up popped two more. "Five! Six!" cried Jerry.

Another pair appeared. "Seven! Eight!" shouted Peter, beginning to dance about.

One more popped up. "Nine!" said Jerry Muskrat, drawing a long breath.

"Plenty!" said Mrs. Muskrat.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M. D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children."

GET QUOTA FRUITS, VEGETABLES, ADD PSYLLIUM IF YOUR CONSTIPATED. QUESTION.

"DEAR DOCTOR: I have been Petersizing for 18 months and have lost 74 pounds. When I began, I weighed 260, and am now down to 186. I am 5 ft. 3 in. tall. I can still be a good deal lighter, but I backslide once in a while, but I don't let that discourage me.

"I have noticed since dieting that I am troubled with gas and constipation. I eat a small bowl of bran in the morning and have taken agar, but these don't seem to help. Please tell me how I can overcome the gas and constipation? "MISS B."

ANSWER.

You have certainly had wonderful results in your reducing, Miss B. Backsliding once in a while seems to be inevitable, and it shouldn't worry

Sometimes bran, sometimes agar, may cause flatulence, or gas. Are you getting your full quota of vegetables and fruits daily? If you are, and are still constipated, I suggest you try a large tablespoonful of psyllium seeds once a day. This is taken in cold or hot water (allowing them to stand for a little while in it), or you can take it in your allowance of skim milk. Psyllium seed gruel is a good meal (if you're the least bit hungry!) Have you our article on Constipation. Send for that, for it will give you more suggestions.

Those who need the Petersizing pamphlet may have same by following colum rules.

QUESTION.

"Dear Doctor: My husband has been having a lot of trouble with heart-burn. He has had this for a long time, but it seems to be getting worse all the time. He has to take baking soda or milk of magnesia to get relief, which only lasts until he has his next meal, which means he takes baking soda at least three times a day. He smokes quite a bit. Neither one of us eats much meat, and use mostly whole wheat products. What would you advise him to do? "MRS. J."

ANSWER.

'Heartburn' is a symptom of excess hydrochloric acid in the stomach, and if htis keeps up, it is frequently a forerunner of ulcer of the stomach. Mrs. J. I imagine your husband is an excessive eater of bread and other starchy foods, and both of you are probably on an unbalanced diet, containing an excessive amount of the acid forming foods. You should eliminate a large part of the bread and cereals, and take potatoes instead. I suggest you send for the article on Balanced Diet. (See column rules.)

Smoking is also one of the causes of excess acidity, so your husband should break himself of the habit. (We have an article on the Tobacco Habit and Cure.)

Baking soda is harmless if it is taken only occasionally, but having to use it frequently shows that it does not at all get at the cause of the trouble. It does harm in masking symptoms and postponing correct treatment, and probably, used too frequently, it upsets the chemistry of the body.

Mrs. W.: Our pamphlet on Kidney and Bladder Disorders contains the simple test for determining the presence of sugar in the urine. See column rules for obtaining this.

4-H Reporters Club Formed Here Is First In U. S.

Organization of the first 4-H news reporters club in the United States was effected Friday afternoon by Mrs. Blanche Hill, assistant county extension agent, assisted by Elton Lux, extension editor of the college of agriculture. The idea of the club was suggested by Birdie Erskine who was made leader of the club. She and Mr. Lux worked up the plans for the club.

Started as an experiment in this county, Mr. Lux plans to assist in organization of similar clubs in other counties if this one proves a success. Only news reporters of other 4-H clubs are eligible for membership. Six members were enrolled at the opening meeting Friday but others in the county are expected to become members later.

Purpose of the club is to improve reporting of 4-H activities for community and city newspapers. The club will meet every three weeks at the college of agriculture. The next meeting will be July 15. Members are Fern Erskine, Esther Shoemaker, Lois Pierson, Ruth Anderson, Horatio Erskine, and Francis Hutchinson.

A·NICE·GIRL·COMES·TO·TOWN

By Maysie Greig

SYNOPSIS: A week's whirlwind courtship has its climax when Mary Lou Leslie becomes engaged to Tony Titherington — temporarily. Tony is an aviator whose chief ambition is to fly around the world, but his wealthy aunt stipulates that she will not finance the flight unless he becomes engaged to Mary Lou. Tony tells Mary Lou that he has no intentions of getting married, but asks her to enter into a "make-believe" engagement so his aunt's backing will be assured. Mary Lou accepts, although she is somewhat chagrined. Tony gives her a ring, and she decides to make the most of her opportunity for a good time. Her cousin, Jay Jerome, gives Mary Lou a job in her gown shop so she may stay in London.

Chapter 18.
WORRIES.

For Mary Lou the next few weeks passed almost incredibly fast. Life was so full that she didn't have a moment to herself.

Her days were spent in the gown shop, her nights with Tony. There were theater parties, dances, dinners and more dances. Everyone professed delight with their engagement.

Mary Lou deliberately closed her eyes to the fact that the engagement was not genuine. Tony's phrase, "Let's pretend," had crept into her blood. She refused to allow herself to think seriously of the future. She lived for the moment—and the moment was filled to the brim with such joy as she never had known.

She felt like a racing car, dashing headlong toward the edge of some precipice. Vaguely she realized she would reach the edge soon but she didn't know when. . . . Did it matter?

Did anything matter so long as Tony was with her—as long as she could feel herself crushed in his arms as they danced. . . .could look up and see his deep blue eyes twinkling down into hers....could see his dear lopsided grin....

Gradually, however, her happiness was shadowed by the thought of Tony's flight. Day by day it became more imminent. The newspapers were full of stories about it. There were pictures of Tony—Tony in Gay Girl, Tony on the street, Tony at some social function. And her pictures, too—"the charming Miss Mary Lou Leslie, to whom Mr. Titherington recently has become engaged."

Tony had promised Jerry an exclusive story of the flight for his paper. Jerry talked excitedly about it at the breakfast table. Mary Lou shivered, pushed aside her bacon and eggs. The flight was drawing too near—too terribly near. For afterward—she trembled in dread of possibilities.

And there was another fear that haunted Mary Lou's dreams. It was the dread that something might happen to Tony, the very dread that Tony had taken such precautions to avoid. Planes did crash, didn't they? Even the best planes, like Gay Girl. She didn't dare to think about it....

The days continued to slip past with amazing speed. Then, impossibly soon, came the day before Tony was to start.

Most of that day, fortunately, was spent in preparation for a farewell party at Jay's studio that night. It was to be a cheery informal affair. The studio had been turned into a miniature ball room.

"I wonder what Tony's swanky friends will think of it," Jay laughed. "I bet some of them will throw a fit."

"Let 'em throw it," Jerry retorted.

The guests, however, adored the "cuteness" of the place. And a chorus of shrill feminine voices expressed enthusiasm over Mary Lou's new yellow frock.

"You're coming in for all the attention," Tony grumbled as he swung her around the dance floor. "Not a blessed girl had said anything about my new suit."

Mary Lou laughed. She was too tense to do anything else. Keyed up as she never had been before, she did not dare to be natural. In the back of her mind, a throbbing, tantalizing voice kept up an incessant refrain. He's going tomorrow. He's going tomorrow. This is your last night. . . your last night."

She chatted vivaciously trying ever so hard to persuade herself that tomorrow would be like any other day. But the inward voice triumphed. She could fool herself no longer.

The specter of Tony's departure rose up before her, grinning menacingly, it seemed. There was no denying it. Tony was going. This was....the end.

As she stood in the doorway the orchestra began to play that ghastly tune she first had heard with Tony at the Berkeley. They were singing it, too:

"Let's pretend that I love you,
Let's pretend that you love me,
Then all the world,
Will paradise be.
We can have our fun,
Cupid on the run,
No heartbreaks when you
Have proved that you're untrue.."

Tony leaped across the room in one bound. He seized her in his arms.

"Dance this with me, Mary Lou," he commanded. "It's our tune, you know. I asked them to play it tonight, especially for us...."

Couldn't he see that she was sick of all this pretending, that she didn't want to pretend any longer? She wanted to creep into his arms, tell him how miserable and afraid she was, that she loved him, that she would die if anything happened to him....

"Awfully jolly time we're having, Mary Lou." Tony's voice seemed to come from another world. "It was great of Jay."

"Y-yes...." She turned her face aside. A huge tear had dropped on her bare arm.

The next moment she had torn herself from his arms, pushing frantically past the dancing couples toward the door.

"Sorry . . shoulder strap broke ..." she flung back at Tony.

Along the corridor she rushed, swallowing sobs she couldn't control. Oh, to be alone! Luckily there was no one in the camouflaged bedroom.

Prone on the bed she lay, her mouth pressed hard against a cushion, her fingers clawing at the brocade coverlet, her white powdered shoulders heaving....She didn't care that her dress was crumpled that her eyes would be red, her lips swollen. She could only mumble again and again, "Tony. Tony...."

Jerry was the first who chanced to hear the faint sound that came through the closed bedroom door. He paused by the bedroom door, opened it slightly, saw Mary Lou. Then he closed the door softly and sought Tony. After all, it was his job.

"Better take a look in the other room, Tony," he advised. "Mary Lou's in there. She seems a trifle —er—upset."

Obediently Tony went. He knew that Mary Lou had not seemed like herself all evening. He took care to shut the door after him as he entered the room. He wondered what he was to do about it, and he hated the prospect of a scene.

Gingerly he sat down on the bed and touched Mary Lou's shoulder. "What's the matter, dear?"

Mary Lou raised a tear-stained face. At the sight of Tony she made a gallant effort to check her sobs.

"Nothing," she murmured.

Tony cleared his throat nervously.

"Something must be the matter. Is there anything I can do?"

Mary Lou achieved a smile, and shook her head vigorously.

Without thinking he blurted out, "I say, you're not upset because—of the flight?"

Mary Lou sat up quickly and pushed back her hair with a resolute gesture.

"Of course not," she asserted. "Don't think that, Tony. The flight has nothing to do with it. I—I had some bad news from home. One—one of my sisters is ill."

Tony accepted the excuse because he wanted to accept it.

"Too bad. I'm awfully sorry. But I'm sure your sister can't be seriously ill, or they would have sent for you. Put some powder on your nose and we'll join the others. They'll wonder what's happened to us."

Mary Lou hid her face in the cushion again. To join the others was the last thing she wanted to do just then. Tony got up and walked the length of the room. He fidgeted nervously. That story about her sister did sound a bit thin, but it was no business of his —or was it?

"Look here, Mary Lou," and he sat down again. "I should hate like the devil to think that you're worrying on my account. You know there's not a doubt in the world that I'll pull through this flight all right. You're sure you won't worry about that?"

Mary Lou turned and wiped the tears from her eyes.

"No more than I should worry for any dear friend," she said with conviction.

Tony's sigh of relief told her that she had said the right thing.

His blue eyes crinkled with that bantering smile.

"Brace up, Mary Lou." He put his arms around her. "You're carried on this far...now carry on ...to the end...won't you?"

"I will, Tony." Her tone carried assurance.

"And now I'm going to kiss you, Mary Lou, if I may." Tony said slowly. She never had seen him look quite so serious. "Because I want you to know, if anything should happen to me, that I've never met a girl I liked better than you."

SCAVENGERS ASK NEW ORDINANCE

Local Association Urges Closer Regulation Of Refuse Disposal.

Periodical inspection of garbage trucks by the city health department is suggestion by the Lincoln Scavenger's association in a letter to Mayor Don L. Love. An entirely new ordinance is recommended, and a copy of the desired form was sent to the mayor.

The present ordinance merely provides for licensing of the trucks, and the health department has made a regulation requiring inspection of such machines before the license is granted.

The proposed bill requires inspection by the city bureau at least once every four months and empowers the department to revoke licenses of scavengers who fail to meet the regulations, and to designate the places at which refuse may be dumped.

The trucks must be at least partially metal-lined and must be equipped with a suitable cover, and the machine must be in proper mechanical repair, the suggested ordinance stipulates.

The letter is signed by Attorney Roy B. Ford, and states that the proposals were outlined after consultations with Dr. M. F. Arnholt, head of the city health department.

WILL PROSECUTE THOSE THROWING REFUSE ON ROADS

Steps to prevent people throwing garbage along county highways and to call attention to responsibility in reporting communicable diseases to county health officials were discussed Saturday morning at a meeting of the county board of health.

Prosecution of persons caught improperly disposing of garbage was approved by the board composed of Claude P. Hensel, sheriff; Charlotte Alexander, county superintendent, and Dr. R. H. Sawyer, county physician. It also approved plans to call attention to responsibility for reporting diseases to prevent their spread. Possibility of simplifying health cards placed in county schools was recommended. Changes were left to Dr. Sawyer.

The board voted not to charge a fee for inspection of camping grounds. All camping grounds will be inspected this year by Dr. Sawyer and a certificate approving their water supply, sanitation, and garbage disposal will be granted. Hereafter, all such camps will be expected to make application and have an approved inspection before opening up in the spring.

Stock Market Trading Lightest in Two Years

NEW YORK, June 28—(AP)—Speculative apathy reached new low levels on the New York stock exchange today. Total transactions approximated $580,000 share, the smallest since July 21, 1928, when 546,300 shares were traded. This compares with the record Saturday turnover of 4,800,000 shares May 6, last.

On the basis of the huge increase in the number of shares listed during the past two years, however, trading was relatively the dullest in years. Prices were inclined to sag until late in the session, when several shares turned upward. Net gains and losses were small, and evenly divided at the close.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

FACING LIFE.

Out of the worst to a little bit better.
Out of disaster as quick as you can.
Wasting no time as a whiner and fretter,
A failure today, but tomorrow a man!

Up from the tumble the goal still to try for.
Starting anew where the last hope went down.
Wasting no minutes lost treasures to sigh for,
Shipwrecked, but fighting your best not to drown!

After the fire and the last girder crashes
Dwell not too long on the desolate view.
There on the site that is blackened with ashes
Courage must hasten to build up anew.

Nothing is altered by cursing or wailing,
Man grumbles with things as they are all in vain;
But from the worst with a ccurage unfailing
Rises the stout heart to triumph again.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

GRAIN MARKETS.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 28

Quenching the hopes of friends of higher prices, widespread rains in Canada, together with increasing movement of newly harvested domestic wheat southwest, put sellers in command of the wheat market today. Prices went dowlward almost from the start, and finished at the day's low point, sowing at no time much power to rally. Apparently, the bulk of traders accepted opinions that this season the spring wheat crop in domestic part sof the belt would mature fast enough to beat black rust.

Wheat closed heavy, ⅞ to 1⅜c a bushel under yesterday's latest quotations. July, 90¼@½c, September, 94¼@⅜c; December, $1.00⅛.

Corn closed ⅝ to 1½c off. July, 74¼@74½c; September, 73⅜c; December, 67¾@67⅞c.

Oats ¼ to ⅜c down.

Provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 47c.

Despite a show of firmness at the outset, wheat prices here underwent an early downturn today. Liverpool traders were credited with buying in Chicago, but upturns in the market ran against enlarged general selling that went hand in hand with reports of heavy rain in Alberta province, Canada. Starting unchanged to ⅛c higher, Chicago wheat values afterward showed material setbacks all around. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise easier, with corn opening unchanged to ⅝c up, and subsequently receding to well below yesterday's finish.

Lively tumbles witnessed at times today in quotations here for wheat were in the face of reports of 1,600,000 bu. decrease stocks at Kansas City since Monday, the largest decrease during any similar period this season. The downward swing of the market was also in at least temporary disregard of messages from crop experts in South Dakota saying black rust is showing where wheat is only in the blossom stage, and that with rust weather the plants would be greatly injured or totally destroyed. Some talk was also prevalent that overnight purchasing of domestic wheat for shipment to Italy had been of liberal volume.

Overcoming all such stimulating factors, however, during most of the day were advices that rains had once more come to the rescue of Canadian wheat crops. Each of the Canadian prairie provinces was reported as having been visited by downpours. This news of replenishing moisture supply for Canada had all the more effect as being in striking contrast with previous reports which told of twenty days almost continuous struggle of Canadian wheat against drought and excessive wind.

Corn sagged with wheat, and showed almost complete absence of any important buying support. Notwithstanding smallness of receipts, July delivery was relatively weakest, and was under pressure of commission house selling. Arrivals of corn in Chicago today totaled 68 cars, compared with 61 cars a week ago and 211 cars at this time last year.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 28

Stocks closed irregular and higher today at the end of the dullest week-end session in almost two years. Transactions on the big board were under 600,000 shares, or less than a normal half-four's turnover.

The railroad stocks and specialties were under sniping fire of the bears, but weakness in this section of the market was offset by the strength of the better grade industrials and utilities. Professionals churned the market in a narrow range and buying demand from the outside was at the vanishing point. Dow Jones averages showed a gain of 14 cents for industrials and a los sof 43 cents for rails.

Industrial stocks closed moderately higher. U. S. Steel gained about half a point at 156; Bethlehem was up about a point at 79⅝; American Tel. Tel. up ½ at 206¾. National Power & Light was a feature of the popular utilities and closed at 37⅞, up 1⅝. General Electric pushed ahead near the close for a gain of nearly 2 points, at 67¾. Sears Roebuck was up 1¼ at 62⅝. Southern Railway lost 2½ points at 89⅞ and New York Central was down fractionally at 155.

Stock prices were irregular at the beginning of an extremely dull and featureless week-end market. The bears re-was forced down 3 points to a new low at the target in the rail group. This stock and utilities with Southern Railway again newed their attacks on a few of the rails 99½, while New Haven, New York Central and other rail leaders dipped from 1 to 2½ points. North American was again under fire and declined about a point.

The week-end business and trade reviews offered little by way of encouragement for the immediate future, emphasizing the fact that the mid-summer dull season is now approaching. Building construction figures for the first three weeks of June showed a fairly good pick-up at the population centers and commodity prices were inclined a share higher. Only 154,000 shares of stock changed hands in the first half hour, this being the dullest opening period in nearly a month.

The ticker stood still during the greater part of the second half hour and the market was as dull as the usual mid-summer session. Stocks which were under pressure in the first period staged a moderate comeback, and the market firmed up as the half session advanced.

There was not sufficient momentum in the market during the second hour to swing prices of the active shares were far in either direction. Electric Auto Lite was a weak spot, falling to a new low at 55¼, down 4 points. The railroad stocks were held down 1 to 3 points below the previous closing prices, by the pressure of either bear selling or liquidation, or perhaps a little of both.

Wheat and corn declined fractionally in the second hour, while cotton rallied a point or two. Other commodities were unchanged.

The stock market was dull and irregular at the opening today, with narrow price changes, mostly downward.

Johns Manville lost a point at 75. North American was down 1⅛ at 91⅝; Public Service of New Jersey down ⅞ at 90½; Electric Power down ½ at 65⅝; United Gas Improvement down ¼ at 34⅛.

Southern Railway was again under pressure and dropped off 1¼ to 91⅛. Chesapeake & Ohio sold at 175, unchanged; New York Central up ⅝ at 156; Union Pacific up ½ at 203¼.

Bethlehem Steel was up a point at 79½; Vanadium up ⅛ at 75⅛ and U. S. Steel down ¼ at 155¼.

Radio Keith was up ¼ at 29 and Radio unchanged at 34. Westinghouse lost ¼ at 131. United Aircraft was up ⅜ at 50⅞. Atlantic Refining up ⅛ at 34⅝; Standard Oil of New Jersey unchanged at 64; Standard of New York down ⅜ at 30⅝; Texas Corp. unchanged at 51.

General Motors was also unchanged at 38½; Chrysler down ¼ at 25¼; Continental Can down ½ at 53 and Fox Film up ¼ at 40¼.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 28

Trading activity on the curb market today lapsed into the mid-summer doldrums, and few price changes of importance were recorded in the extremely dull turnover of the two-hour session. Covering on a moderate scale in the final half hour brought a firmer tone to the list, although prices in the main body of stocks ruled generally irregular.

Electric Bond & Share recovered practically all of its early setback, and the late buying brought it fractionally to the upside at the finish. Other utility issues failed to obtain similar response, and minus signs were in the preponderance in this group.

Cities Service held fairly steady, and closed approximately unchanged.

American Natural Gas reflected pool activity, in its brisk advance of 2⅝ points to 15⅝. Other natural gas stocks, including Appalachian and Memphis Natural Gas, moved up the line.

Newmont Mining followed sympathetically the firmness in the copper stocks on the big board, and rose 3 points to 88.

Cosden Oil advanced 1⅛ points to 35⅞; and Penn Mex Fuel, which gained 7⅞ at 19⅞, were high lights in the oils.

Investment Trusts were steady in apathetic trading.

Late forenoon prices were steady within narrow price ranges with July at 13.51, off 1; October old at 12.23, up 2; October new at 12.93, off 2; December old at 13.36, off 2; December new at 13.10, off 1; January old at 13.40, off 3; January new at 13.17, off 1, May at 13.58, off 1.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

Jersey Commission On Fighter's Trail

CHICAGO, June 28—(AP)—Because he failed to fill a contract for a match in New Jersey, Paul Swiderski, the ad eyed Pole who leaped into prominence by pummeling Mickey Walker, may not be permitted to fight Frankie Simms of Cleveland on the Chicago stadium card, July 2.

The New Jersey commission suspended the Pole and has asked the Illinois commission to do likewise. Swiderski and his manager claim he was forced to call the fight off in New Jersey because of injuries suffered in his gruelling match with Walker. The Illinois commission was to make its decision today.

Giant Cleveland Terminal Opens

CLEVELAND, O., June 28—(AP)—The gigantic Cleveland union terminals development was formally opened to the public today with a civic celebration, and regular through-train passenger service will begin tomorrow morning. The occasion marks a new chapter in one of the greatest terminal developments, for the new fifty-two-story terminals building and the network of tracks are only part of the picture.

There are already four other skyscrapers in the terminal group, completed, and three others are definitely planned or already started. In addition, there is a massive four-track railroad bridge nearly a mile long.

The entire program represents an investment of approximately $220,000,000. It was conceived and accomplished by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, two Cleveland brothers, who in the space of a few years have risen from humble real estate men to outstanding railroad magnates.

Death Chair Ends Criminal Career George Williams

COLUMBUS, O., June 28—(AP)—Death in the electric chair early today closed the long criminal career of George Williams, 68-year-old robber and killer.

Maintaining to the last the defiant attitude that had characterized his actions since he was sentenced to die for the murder of a Cleveland policeman, Williams entered the death chamber shortly after midnight and was dead at 12:14.

Williams was one of the most unruly prisoners ever placed in the death house. He cursed the guards and threatened to kill them. Recently he had insisted that he would "beat the chair."

MAN CONFESSES SLAYING PASTOR

Two Others Wounded After Service in Niagara Falls Mission.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 28—(AP)—Frank Ross, 37, wanted for the fatal shooting of Rev. Edgar R. Wood and the wounding of two members of his congregation last night, was arrested today on a road on the outskirts of the city. He had a pistol in his possession, but offered no resistasce to arrest.

Police said Ross made a statement to them in which he admitted that he went to the mission intending to murder Wood, his wife, Mrs. Mildred Ross, the latter's sister, Leona Kuhn, and Leonard Towe. He said, according to police, that he had been practicing in a woods, shooting at a target.

The other victims were Ross's wife, wounded in the left side near the heart, and Towe, shot in both legs.

Mrs. Ross and her sister, Leona Kuhn, had been attending the mission services for several months. Ross objected, and, it is said, became particularly bitter because on several occasions Towe called at his home to drive Mrs. Ross and Miss Kuhn to the mission in his automobile.

Italy Planning A Stronger Army

ROME, June 28—(AP)—The council of ministers, with Premier Mussolini presiding, today took up national defense problems and issued a statement saying the action was taken because of France's preparations for fortifying her Italian frontier.

"Several problems inherent to the national defense" were taken up according to the official communication.

In order to raise more money for defense, the ministers, on the Duce's recommendation, decided to raise the tax on exchange transactions and to work out a method of exacting the taxes from firms affected by it.

In this way, the statement said it will be possible to increase the budgets of the armed forces of Italy by a half billion lire (more than $26,000,000) at the beginning of the 1930-31 fiscal year, with the sum for later years to be determined.

For the next year the army will receive 300,000,000 lire more, the navy 100,000000, aviation 80,000,000 and the black shirt militia 20,000,000 for equipping and arming.

THE WEATHER.

The trough of low pressure now covers the Great Plains and the Mountain states, with rising pressure in the Pacific northwest and in the eastern half of the country. Showers have fallen throughout the western Canadian Provinces and scattered light showers in Oklahoma, western Kansas, and southern Nebraska. Elsewhere the weather is mostly fair. Temperatures are above normal between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, and generally slightly below normal in the eastern portion of the country and in the states west of the Rocky Mountains.

TRY TO ADJUST WHEAT ACREAGE

Legge and Hyde To Address Growers Of the Cereal.

WASHINGTON, June 28— (AP) — The department of agriculture announced today that a campaign for wheat acreage adjustment "with the long time outlook in view" will be inaugurated on July 3 under the leadership of Chairman Legge of the federal farm board and Secretary Hyde.

On that date the department will release an outlook report on the world wheat situation, which Legge and Hyde will discuss in nation-wide radio broadcast.

This will be followed by meetings of wheat growers in the winter wheat belt, where the need for adjustments in production will be considered.

The Nebraska agricultural college will hold a meeting at Hastings, July 7; the Colorado agricultural college at Sterling, July 8; the Kansas state agriculture college at Hays July 8 and at Dodge City, July 9; the Texas agricultural college at Amarillo, July 11 and the Oklahoma agricultural college at Enid, July 12.

Legge and Hyde will attend these meetings to emphasize the importance of growers planning their production with regard to the facts presented in the world wheat outlook.

Rotarians Disappointed When Chicago Gangsters Fail to Do Their Stuff

CHICAGO, June 28—(AP)—The Latin-American delegation to the silver anniversary of Rotary International started home today—disappointed in Chicago.

"We came here to learn about gangs and shootings," said Luis Machado, Rotary district governor of Cuba, "and we have found it the most peaceful city in the United States. They make you go to bed here at 11 o'clock. There is no other place to go."

After announcing the election of Almon E. Roth of Palo Alto, Cal., international president, the convention was adjourned to meet next year in Vienna, Austria.

Many of the foreign delegates went to Madison Wis., as guests of Gov. Walter J. Koehler.

OMAHA, June 28—(AP)— Omaha said good morning in eight different tongues today to a dozen European journalists who are visiting here during a good will tour of America. Two of the delegation of it making the trip did not stop here.

The European newspaper men were greeted by an official reception committee at a hotel breakfast, after they had been greeted at the train by Frank Fogarty, publicity director of the Omaha chamber of commerce.

George A. Finch, representative of the Carnegie endowment for international peace, which is sponsoring the tour, and James B. Wharton, tour conductor, accompanied the party.

Countries represented among the newspapermen are Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Ethonia, Bulgaria, Sweden, Denmark, Czechoslovakia and Norway.

FATHER AND SON ARE CANDIDATES FOR SAME OFFICE

OMAHA, Neb., June 28—(AP)— Harry Pearce, the father will oppose Harry Pearce, the son, for the republican nomination for county register of deeds. Both have filed under the same name.

STATE CHECKING ON DRIVERS WITH FAULTY LICENSES

State highway officials are checking up through county treasurers on persons detected by highway patrolmen without proper licenses as to whether the licenses had been obtained after the warning given by the state's patrolmen.

William Albers, Lancaster county treasurer, has received a number of forms from the state department, asking if new licenses had been taken out by those caught by state patrolmen. The treasurer is asked to notify the state department so that action can be taken against those who fail to heed the warning of patrolmen.

Two such notices were received this week, one for a car driving with a 1929 license, the other for a machine which had lost one plate. Neither of the parties warned to attend to the matter had done so at noon Saturday.

Carnera-Bearcat Ring Bout Goes Over to Night July 10

Request by Italian's Manager Has Okay of Nebraska Promoters

OMAHA, Neb., June 28—(Special) Primo Carnera's 10-round glove battle with Bearcat Wright, scheduled for the night of July 3 in Omaha, has been postponed until July 10. Announcement of the postponement was made today by Bernie Boyle, promoter for the Omaha Eagles aerie, which is sponsoring the fight. Pat Boyle, brother of Bernie, was in New York Friday and used the long distance phone late last night to inform Brother Bernie that Manager See, acting for Carnera, had requested the bout be deferred.

Bearcat Too Tough.

Carnera's manager admitted that he and his associates had been investigating the Bearcat's fighting record, discovering that the Omaha negro is a tougher proposition than was anticipated when the match was made. When the fact was developed that the Bearcat had won decisions over both Godfrey and Chevalier, the Carnera party was surer than ever that the Italian giant would need a longer period for training purposes.

After conferring with State oBxing Commissioner Vorhies at Lincoln over the phone today, Promoter Boyle announced the potponement until the night of July 10.

Vorhies Gives Consent.

Boxing Commissioner Vorhies, at his office in the state capitol today, confirmed the news from Omaha that the Carnera-Wright heavyweight bout, at Western League park in Omaha, had been redated for the night of July 10.

"I was opposed to a postponement," the commissioner informed The Star, "but Promoter Boyle requested it, giving reasons which were logical, so I have given consent."

Vorhies revealed also that in sanctioning the match between the Italian hope and the Omaha negro he was risking the displeasure of the National Boxing association. Carnera is banned by that group, of which Nebrask is a member. Vorhies on previous occasions has gone to the defense of the big invader.

Likes Primo's Prospects.

Nothing happened in the Godfrey-Carnera scrap, said Vorhies, to make him change his favorable opinion of the Italian's ability and prospects.

"Carnera simply found out that Wright has beaten Godfrey in the past and is a lot tougher than he supposed," said Vorhies. "There might be another change today and the date switched back to July 3. The promoters now say it will be July 10, though, and anything that's all right with them is all right with me. I can't help it if the N. B. A. doesn't like me sanctioning this match, but I have heard nothing from it yet."

Vorhies indicated that after Carnera arrives, he will issue a strong edict on fouls.

Dunlap vs. Moller In College Finals

OAKMONT, Pa., June 28—(AP)—Two good golfers of widely different physique and style of play met today in the final match of the intercollegiate championship over 36 holes.

George T. Dunlap, Princeton captain, is a slight youth, weighing only about 120 pounds, not particularly long from the tee, but deadly in his accuracy on and about the greens. Dunlap's home is East Orange, N. J., but he has spent much of his time at Pinehurst, N. C.

Larry Moller, Notre Dame captain is a stocky chap who hits an amazingly long ball from the tee, and putts like a machine when he has the touch, his home is at Quincy, Ill.

Moller and Dunlap tied for the medal honors in the qualifying round, with scores of 153 for 36 holes, and possession of the medalist trophy hinged on the first 18 holes of today's play, as an additional feature of the championship round. This, however, was match, not medal play.

Moller Goes Four Up.

OAKMONT, Pa., June 28—(AP)—Larry Moller, Notre Dame, was four up over George Dunlap, Princeton, at the cloe of the first 18 holes of their 36-hole match for the intercollegiate golf championship of the United States today. The cards for the first nine holes:

Morning:
Dunlap out....6 4 5 5 4 3 4 4 5—40
Moller out.....6 4 5 4 4 3 4 3 5—38

Finishing the first nine two up, Moller increased his advantage on the second nine and finished the first round four up. Cards for the second nine:

Dunlap in.4 3 5 5 3 4 5 4 4 6—38—78
Moller in..5 5 5 3 3 5 3 3 5—37—75

Moller was frequently in trouble in the morning round, but showed an uncanny ability to extricate his ball from difficulties. His putting was in and out. He holed some brilliant oneh, but on four greens took three putts.

Dunlap, whose putting had been brilliant during the championship play, suffered a relapse today and found it difficult to get the range on the greens.

MANION-M'CRARY IN SIPPI FINAL

Champion Plays St. Louis Golfer in Match For Title.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 23—(AP)—Jimmy Manion of St. Louis and Bob McCrary of Des Moines, survivorsof a field of 225, were locked today in a 36-hole duel for the trans-Mississippi championship.

Manion yesterday brushed aside the challenge of Walter Crooks 10 and 8, while McCrary, 1929 champion, was eliminating the 46 year old Tulsa veteran, Logan Van Zant, 8 and 7.

Survivors set a rapid pace in the semi-finals. Manion and McCrary were even with par 70's when their matches terminated. The St. Louis finalist needed a half to win his match on the 28th and poled a 14-foot putt for the hole.

Expect Low Scores.

Today's match had the tournament observers stymied. Manion, the trans-Mississippi champion, in 1924, and McCrary, the defending title holder, have been getting better every day. The finish was expected to be one of the most sensational the Colorado golf course has ever known. Both took 109 strokes for 28 holes yesterday, hitting par and on the additional hole McCrary was down in par four.

In the championship consolation, Morton Benedict of Kansas City and H. C. Carpenter of Denver reached the 36 hole finals.

The Lower Flights.

Benedict's morning round of 67, three under par, was too good for Earl Berryhill of Sapulpa, Okla, Benedict winning, 3 and 2. Carpenter beat O. D. Cass, jr., also of Denver, one up in 37 holes.

In the president's flight, Frank Alyward, Kansas City, beat J. W Hughes, Omaha, and advanced to the finals against Homer Joy, Colorado Springs, who eliminated Fred Melcholrs, Omaha, 6 and 5.

WHITE SOX STEP OUT TO BUY STAR

Chicago Club Pays Hard Cash for Shortstop In Hickey League.

CHICAGO, June 28—(AP)—Another step in the reconstruction of the Chicago White Sox was taken today with the purchase of Gordon Mulleavey, sensational shortstop with the Toledo club of the American association. The White Sox gave two players for the young star.

William Hunnefield an infielder, and Bob Weiland, young left-handed pitcher, were sent to the Toledo club in exchange for Mulleavey Hunnefield and Weiland were released on option.

Mulleavey will join the White Sox in New York Monday. Scouts for the club say Mulleavey is the best infielding prospect in the American association, as well as a dangerous hitter.

Tilden and Lott Score Over Opponents In Tennis Tilts.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 28—William T. Tilden and George M. Lott, jr., joined the rest of the American leaders in the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon tennis championships today by eliminating dangercus opponents in the men's singles.

Tilden definitely asserted his superiority by crashing through to a straight set victory over E. D. Andrews of New Zealand, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2. Andrews put up a brave fight, but the lanky American had too much for him.

Lott's entry into the quarter-finals came with his victory over P. D. B Spence of South Africa, 6-1, 6-3, 10-8.

Spence had great difficulty getting started, and allowed the American to pile up a tremendous advantage of two sets before he hit his stride.

In the third frame, Spence put up a gallant battle, but it was too late to save the day.

Thrilling Third Set.

The last set of the Lott-Spence match was a ding-dong affair, which the South African really should have won. He led 6-5, 7-6 and 8-7, going to set point three times, but always losing at the psychological moment with a weak overhead stroke that Latt was able to tear into and kill.

The American himself was inclined to be somewhat careless, but brightened his game with a number of unbeatable sideline drives

By virtue of his victory, Lott joined Wilmer Allison, John Doeg and Gregory Mangin in the quarter-finals of the tournament.

Elizabeth Ryan, Anglo-American representative in the women's singles, was extended to defeat the Swiss champion, Mlle. L. Payot, 6-0, 3-6, 8-6.

The American combination of Wilmer Allison and Edith Cross advanced in the mixed doubles by defeating the English pair, S. N. Perkins and Mrs. W. T. Tucker, 9-7, 7-5.

In the women's singles, Betty Nuthall, English star, conquered her country woman, Mrs. C. G. McIlquham, 6-2, 6-3.

Helen and Partner Wni.

Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan had little trouble in eliminating Miss J. Sandison and Mrs. E. C. Simon in the women's doubles, 6-0, 6-4 The victory carried the world's singles champion and her Anglo-American partner into the third round.

Jean Borotra, one of the French stars, defeated B. Von Kehrling of Hungary with the loss of one set, 6-2, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1.

Fielding Assists Record Is Broken

CHICAGO, June 28—(AP)—Another all-time American association record has gone by the boards. This time it is a mark for fielding assists.

The new mark was established yesterday in the Milwaukee-Toledo game when the two clubs ran up a total of 42 assists in nine innings of play. The Brewers collected the most, making 24 assists for 27 putouts, while the Mud Hens made 18.

Only two putout were made by the Brewer outfield, the rest of the smashes skimming the ground to extinguishment. The busiest helpmates in the unusual game were Bloxsom, Milwaukee shortstop, who made seven assists; Grimes, Milwaukee third baseman, who made six and Mulleavy, Toledo shortstop, who helped out on a half dozen.

Mud Hens Grab Victory.

Toledo won the game, however, 8 to 5, in the ninth inning when Jack Smith tripled to end Koehler in with the deciding run.

Incidentally, four out of five games were decided by one run yesterday and in each intance the winning run came home in the final inning.

The exception was in the game in which St. Paul pounded two Louisville pitchers for 19 hits and a 14 to 6 victory. The win was the second straight by the Saints over the Colonels and left them six games from their rivals in the one-ided race for first place.

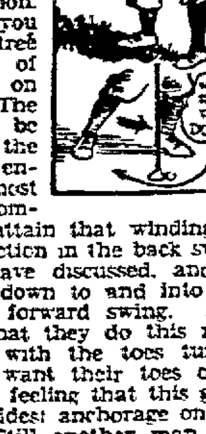
Good Golf.

BY CHESTER HORTON.
"Golf's Greatest Teacher."



Whether your toes should be turned outward or the feet so placed that the toes point straight ahead is a sort of a moot question. As a golfer you can easily free your mind of any doubt on this point. The toes should be placed in the position that enables you most easily and comfortably to attain that winding-up spring-like action in the back swing which we have discussed, and to maintain it down to and into the ball on the forward swing. Now some find that they do this most comfortably with the toes turned out. Others want their toes on a straight line, feeling that this gives them the solidest anchorage on the right heel Still another man will have his right tie pointing straight ahead and the left one out. Makes little difference about this if you find the foot position as I say that works with you But do some experimenting and find it, because there is just one that will fit you to a tee If it's a pigeon-toed one in your case, don't concern yourself with how you look. Opponents forget your grizzly bear stance if they see you driving 'em a mile. And so will you.

Primo's Appetite Goes on and on.

Nothing can stop that appetite of Primo Carnera, not even a submarine punch by George Godfrey, who fouled the Italian giant in their Philadelphia bout Here is Primo about to destroy a huge plate of spaghetti (his favorite "fruit") while Leon See, his manager, gazes on in frank wonder and amazement.

GENERALS PILE UP SCORE RUNS

McCook Club Slaughters Fairbury In Opener of Series.

McCook disposed of any idea that it isn't in the Nebraska league race this year when the Generals walloped Fairbury Friday in the first game of the important series, 20-3. Pitcher Clark of McCook held the league leaders to six hits, while his team mates hopped on four Fairbury hurlers for 16 blows.

Eleven runs in the eighth inning sewed up the victory for McCook. Five runs in the third chased Primm of Fairbury to the showers.

Pickering held Norton to four hits, but Lincoln lost a 3-1 game to the Kansas club. Suggs of Norton had a shade the better of the argument allowing the Links three hits. Pickering fanned 10 and Suggs whiffed nine. Neither team errored afield.

Wilman hurled fine ball against his former teammates at Grand Island and defeated York, 9-1, in the first game of the series. North Platte won a slugfest from Norfolk, 15-14. Three runs in the ninth decided the issue. Gregory hitting a home run with two aboard.

Lipton's Challenger Loses Another Race

HUNTERS QUAY, Scotland, June 28—(AP)—The Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup, lost for the second straight time today in a race for big yachts on the Clyde. The Shamrock finished three minutes. 12 seconds behind the Luluworth on corrected times. White Heather was third.

Today's defeat was the fourth for the Shamrock V since she was launched over two months ago. She has won a half dozen races against the same yachts.

RECRUITS SHOW OFF IN MAJORS

Young Stars Go the Pace In Baseball's "Big Time" Circle.

Cincinnati's fans are getting a chance to appraise the work of a few of the year's most promising newcomers to National league circles. While the Boston Braves are playing at Cincinnati, there is a chance to compare the play of Wally Berger and Buster Chatham with that of "Jersey Joe" Stripp of Cincinnati. The Boston youngsters are going at a great rate, Berger tying Hack Wilson for the league's home run leadership, while Stripp, who failed in previous attempts to remain in the major leagues, still is one of Cincinnati's most effective batters, although he no longer is threatening the leaders. And yesterday, the Red fans had a thrilling game tossed in for good measure, with Cincinnati winning, 7 to 6, in the ninth inning.

Buster Does His Stuff.

Chatham, who only came up about a month ago, led the assault on another star recruit, Benny Frey, by hitting safely three times in four attempts, and took a good part in Boston's five-run rally that tied the score in the eighth inning. He brought his average for the 23 games in which he has participated up to .367. Berger and Stripp each made two hits in four times up gaining current averages of .327 and .306 respectively. And all three continued to field steadily.

The New York Yankees also have produced a star newcomer in Shortstop Bill Werber, formerly of Duke university, although he failed to prevent a defeat at the hands of the Cleveland Indians.

Yankee Rookie Delivers.

Werber, who was about to be sent to Albany when Lyn Lary was hurt a few days ago, stepped into the Yankee lineup and has been hitting steadily and fielding brilliantly, leaving George Wuestling almost out of the picture. Yesterday's activities for Werber were limited to one hit, two runs and the start of one double play, as the Indians came to life, after losing five straight, pounded George Pipgras from the mound and won, 11 to 7. Babe Ruth's twenty-seventh home run of the year overshadowed the rest of the Yankee hitting.

Senators Move Ahead.

The Yankee defeat proved a great aid to Washington, for the Senators moved a game away by beating Detroit, 6 to 4, in a duel between Al Crowder and Charley Sullivan.

The Philadelphia Athletics spent the afternoon dividing a doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns, tossing away the first game, 8 to 2, by committing five errors, and winning the second, 8 to 3, by means of hard and effective clouting against Chad Kimsey.

The result of the four American league contests was that the Athletics' lead was cut to a single game, while the Yanks dropped 2½ games behind the league leaders. The Chicago-Boston game was rained out.

Cubs Repulse Robins.

Brooklyn's lead in the National league likewise suffered severe damage and the Chicago Cubs cut it from two games to one by winning the second contest of their "first place" series, 7 to 5, in 10 innings. Kiki Cuyler's home run, with Bush on base in the tenth, broke up the deadlocked struggle.

Pittsburgh, which won its first doubleheader of the season Thursday, threatened to take a place in the first division by defeating the Phillies for the third time, 6 to 4. Philadelphia outhit the winners, 12-9, but Frank O'Doul was the only one who could do any really effective clouting against Heinie Meine He made two doubles and two triples in five times up

The Pirates were left only a half game behind the fourth place St. Louis Cardinals, who lost their second straight to the New York Giants, 9 to 4. Four St. Louis errors aided the Giants while Fred Fitzsimmons kept the cards from scoring. Friday's major league results:

Schmeling Goes Home: His Pledge to Return Provokes Skepticism

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, June 28—Max Schmeling, the herr prize fighter, left the land of the free at midnight last night on the Bremen, bound for Europe and the heavyweight championship of the world left with him. He is coming back before the end of the summer, they say, but whether the title was coming with him remained a moot point, although the Herr Schmeling was at some pains to file a demurrer against a current innuendo. This purported to believe that he thus was taking plenty of prairie, which translated from the vulgarian, means a runout.

Something for Nothing.

The Herr Schmeling disagreed with this version. He did more. He said that if there was no prizefight with Sharkey in September, it wouldn't be because he was unwilling to fight it. He, it seems, wants to do a lot of things for the land of the free. Free? He didn't disagree with that version. It even gave him the heavyweight championship for nothing.

"I make only one promise to the American public," said he, just before sailing "The promise I make is that another fight with Sharkey will be held in September, if the public and Sharkey are willing. I do nothing to interfere with the plan I do everything I can to bring it about. But I must be protected against trouble and, until the promoters give me assurance of the fight can't go on I hope Manager Jacobs will be able to straighten this matter out while I am home, so that I can come back ready to fight. My victory was questioned because of Sharkey's foul. That is as it should be. I want America to know that I am not any more satisfied with this than it is."

Perhaps Like Wild Pitch.

Meantime, it appears that the second Sharkey-Schmeling fight is no nearer fulfillment than it was the morning after the original meeting, at which time it was further away than a wild pitch. Schmeling and his manager, the Herr Jake, who mastered his German in 10 simple lessons at the corner delicatessen, accepted Sharkey's defi for another fight, but exacted several conditions, none of which have been met.

As a matter of fact, they are still trying to meet the first condition with so little success that they haven't even met the man who could make it possible, the Herr Arthur Bulow. The latter seems to be a gentleman who keeps his own counsel and his appointments as seldom as possible, for the Garden people have been known to stand around for hours waiting for the man to break an engagement. Unless they get his name n a certain document, the fight can't go on; so maybe he is really the people's friend, after all.

That Once Removed Manager.

Just to keep the record straight, the Herr Bulow is Schmeling's manager, once removed. Once was enough.

Anyhow, I understand the German has so little faith in the Sharkey arrangements that, although he promises to be back ready to fight early in August, he is considering the possibilities of a meeting with Tom Heeney in Germany before the close of the outdoor season. If he goes with Honest Tom, there won't be any possibilities. These will be probabilities. They call him Honest Tom because he is so dependable.

Garden Folks Keep Busy.

NEW YORK, June 28 — Frank Bruen, vice president of Madison Square Garden, said today he hoped to sign contracts by next Thursday for the second Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey heavyweight battle. It is planned to stage the fight September 18 or 25 in Yankee stadium.

Bruen indicated he had reached an agreement with Arthur Bulow, Schmeling's discarded pilot. Under the proposed plan, Bulow will receive 26 per cent of the German fighter's purse, which Sharkey has agreed to pay out of his end. Schmeling will get 37½ per cent and Sharkey only 12½ per cent of the net proceeds.

Bulow, in turn, will give all over 20 per cent of his share to Charlie Rose, a New York manager who has a si xper cent interest in Schmeling

Bulow himself has not confirmed the agreement, Bruen said, however, he expected to make official announcement of signing the fight definitely within a few days.

WHITNEY'S COLT OUT OF RUNNING

Whichone Unable Renew Turf Duel With Fox In Dwyer Stakes.

NEW YORK, June 28—(AP)—With Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone withdrawn, the Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct today looked like nothing more than an exercise gallop for William Woodward's champion three-year-old, Gallant Fox.

The anticipated return meeting between the Whitney and Woodward colts in the Dwyer was written off the books yesterday when Tom Healy, trainer for the Whitney stables, announced Whichone had suffered two quarter cracks and possibly would race no more this season

Gallant Fox's only opposition thus was to come from the Rancocas stable's Limbus and the Wheatley stable's Flaming. Even with Whichone in the race, Gallant Fox would have been an odds-on favorite at three to five. Overnight odds quoted him at one to twenty, with no takers. Earl Sande again was to have a leg up on Gallant Fox. Laverne Fator was to ride Limbus and either Burke or Abel was to pilot Flaming.

Latonia Classic Today.

LATONIA, Ky., June 28—(AP)—Gallant Knight, winner of the Fairmount Derby and second to Gallant Fox in the Kentucky Derby, was the favorite in today's forty-eighth renewal of the $25,000 added Latonia Derby for three-year-olds.

Bezonian was second choice and Reveille Boy, victor in the American Derby, was third in the odds.

Dixie Lad, winner of the Cleveland Derby, Longus, Playtime, Ladrone and Culloden, the latter two A. J. N Camden entries, completed the starting field reduced from 103 nominations. The race was a mile and a half Gallant Knight carried 121 pounds, with H. Schulte up. Reveille Boy carried top weight of 126 pounds.

The Latonia Derby, in contrast with recent years, failed to draw a single eastern entrant. It was the feature of the opening of a 37-day meet at the Latonia track.

Washington Park Climax.

CHICAGO, June 28—(AP)—Washington Park's June turf season, a veritable paradise throughout for long shot players, closed today with the $10,000 added Peabody Memorial Handicap a feature on the final program.

Twelve thoroughbreds were named for the closing stake. Sun Beau, speedy five-year-old bay sporting the colors of W. S. Kilmer, stood out as the favorite in the overnight wagering with The Nut, High Foot, Whiskery and Ironsides receiving plenty of support. The race was over a mile and one-quarter and 20,000 spectators were expected to watch it.

Washington Park's season has been one of the most remarkable of American turf this year. Not only have long shots had field day after field day, but the attendance and receipts have been much higher than a year ago, whereas most American tracks, if not all, have been struck by "hard times."

Arlington Park, Chicago's fashionable northside racing strip, will pick up the continuous Chicago turf program Monday. It will run 30 days and offer a purse distribution of some $650,000.
